Current Law/Background: State law requires State agencies and other statutory entities to report to the General Assembly on specified activities, services, and trends. Chapter 58 of 2015 requires, by December 1 of the year immediately preceding the start of a new term of the General Assembly, that DLS, in consultation with State agencies, review and make recommendations for the introduction of legislation to repeal or modify reporting requirements that may no longer be warranted. Chapters 47 and 48 of 2023 were the most recent Acts enacted to repeal, modify, and consolidate reporting requirements in response to Chapter 58. The next scheduled review will occur during the 2026 legislative interim.

DBM advises that the bill is tied to the Government Modernization Initiative (GMI) team’s effort to coordinate with State departments to create governmental efficiency. GMI was created as a result of Executive Order 01.01.2025.08, which, among other things, established the Governor’s Office of Performance Improvement and established GMI. DBM advises that the bill relieves unnecessary reporting burdens on affected State departments and that the bill allows department staff to focus their attention on other activities due to them no longer being required to staff or attend unnecessary meetings.
